Jay Haas Captures 2008 Senior PGA Title

The field was impressive, including 15 major champions, with 9 Senior PGA titles, 8 Masters titles, 6 US Opens, 5 British Opens and, 2 PGA Championship titles between them; 7 Ryder Cup captains, and 6 Golf Hall of Fame members and representatives of 15 countries. The golf course was pristine, giving a tremendous challenge to the players. The weather ended up to be perfect. Local golf hero, Jeff Sluman made his Senior Championship debut and put on an amazing performance for the huge crowds that followed him every day. Brian Whitcomb, President of the PGA of America, summed it up on Sunday, "It doesn't get any better than this! Thank you Oak Hill."

On Sunday afternoon, it was Jay Haas who won the right to hold the Alfred S. Bourne Trophy with a 7 over par, beating out Bernhard Langer on the last hole by one stroke. Bill Britton was the winning club professional with a 14 over par.

History of the Senior PGA Championship

The all-time great amateur player Bobby Jones, along with his good friend Alfred S. Bourne, organized the first Senior PGA Championship in 1937 at Augusta National Golf Club. Bourne who was a co-founder and benefactor of Augusta National donated the large silver Champions Cup still known as the Alfred S. Bourne Trophy.

The first two championships were played at Augusta National after which the venue moved to Florida, the home state for the Senior PGA until 2001. Most of the competitions have been at either PGA National at Dunedin, (1945 through 1962) or PGA National G.C. at Palm Beach Gardens, which has hosted a total of 26 Championships including a continuous string from 1982 through 2000. Beginning in 2001 the event has moved to some of the nations finest courses. The 2008 Championship at Oak Hill will be the most northerly site for this early season event coming exactly sixty years after the 1948 event won by Oak Hill C.C.'s own professional, Charlie McKenna.

Over the years, the champions have been some of the greatest names in golf. Jock Hutchison won the inaugural event and continued to "own" the tournament through the 1940's with two victories in 1937 and 1947 (at age 62) and eleven top 3 finishes, including six runner-ups. Another consistent force was Sam Snead who was six-time champion ('64, '65, '67, '70, '72, '73) and had fifteen Top 10 finishes! In more recent times Hale Irwin has been a consistent winner taking the Bourne Trophy home in 1996, '97, '98 and '04.

Other notable winners of multiple Senior PGA Championships include some greats of the game including Gene Sarazen, Paul Runyan, Julius Boros, Don January, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Lee Trevino.

Appreciation Reception

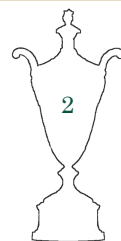

Kicking off tournament week, the PGA held an Appreciation Reception to thank Oak Hill members and staff and the tournament committee for the two years of hard work leading up to the Senior PGA Championship. Brian Whitcomb, President of the PGA of America presented awards of appreciation to several people, including Craig Harmon, Head Professional; Jeff Corcoran, Manager of Golf Courses and Grounds; Eric Rule, General Manager; and Tony Malone, General Chairman of the 2008 Senior PGA Championship.

Senior PGA Community Relations

Kicking off Tournament Week was an action-packed day on Monday, May 19.

At noon, The Executive Womens' Golf Association hosted an invitation-only luncheon and clinic for women new to the game of golf. Following lunch, the ladies were treated to a clinic taught by Carol Mann, this year's recipient of the First Lady of Golf Award. Assisting in the instruction were WNY PGA professionals. Also attending the clinic as special guests were members of several high school girls' golf teams.

Carol Mann Clinic

Next up were two events that ran simultaneously, keeping the volunteers on their toes. The Youth Clinic was attended by approximately 200 local youth representing various community charitable organizations. The youth were treated to a clinic run by 36 area PGA professionals. Each participant was given 2 new golf clubs from US Kids and a used putter, a shirt and cap and were delighted and inspired by a presentation by trick-shot expert Dennis Walters. Dennis Walters is a paraplegic golfer and inspirational speaker who had the children captivated with his golf skills. A cookout capped off this special event for the kids. Many of the attendees were given the opportunity to shadow a Pro-Am team at the Pro-Am Tournament at Oak Hill on Tuesday, giving them a chance to see the lessons in action.

Running concurrently was the Play Golf America Day, an event open to the public. Attendees had equipment demos, free 10-minute lessons from 10 PGA Professionals and joined up with the Youth Clinic to hear the Dennis Walters presentation.

In addition to the days activities, participating local charities had previously been given Tournament tickets to use as fundraisers and were invited to use the PGA Chalet to entertain donors.

Many thanks to Sandra Carl and Genesee Valley Golf Course for allowing us to have all these activities at that facility, to Jim Mrva for organizing the events and recruiting all the PGA Professionals who so generously gave their time and talent, to the PGA for special funding for the events, and to the many volunteers who helped make this special day possible.

These events were chaired by Gay Maney and Carol DeMoulin.

PGA Teams Up with Rochester for Scholarship Fund

The 2008 Senior PGA, played on the famous East Course of Oak Hill, brings more than great golf to the Rochester community. The Community Relations Committee, working with community leaders and the PGA, has found a way for local youth to benefit for years to come.

Thanks to the generosity of the PGA Foundation, a donation of $25,000 in 2008 will be used as seed money to start a scholarship fund for youth in our community.

This $25,000 will be increased through local fund-raising efforts, led by the newly-formed Oak Hill Country Club / PGA Scholarship Advisory Board. Based upon a successful local fundraiser as well as the scholarship program, the PGA Foundation will make future contributions as we move toward the 2013 PGA Championship at Oak Hill Country Club. This effort is a first for the PGA, and all involved hope this will serve as a model to be used in other communities.

Our goal is to demonstrate that this was a successful program and it will continue to receive financial support from the community and the PGA Foundation beyond the 2013 PGA Championship.

The Community Relations Committee, working under the leadership of Tony Malone, General Chairman, has been led by Carol DeMoulin and Gay Maney. They are pleased to announce the additional members of the newly formed Advisory Board: Marty Glavin, Mike Green (District Attorney, Monroe County), Ed

Larkin, Jim Mrva (Golf Professional/SPGA Youth Clinic), Nydia Padilla-Rodriguez (RCSD/representing Dr. Brizard), Doug Phillips, Gail Reeves and Gerry Van Strydonck. The ongoing representative for the PGA is Earnie Ellison, Jr., PGA Staff responsible for Community Relations.

As someone said, "Rochester knows how to get something done!" The support the Rochester area has given this 69th Senior PGA Championship is proof of that. It is also why we have been chosen to develop the model for this tremendous opportunity to benefit youth. The Rochester community has a long history of "firsts", and we are pleased to add this new scholarship program to the list. Long after the trophy has been awarded to the 69th Champion and the fans have gone home, the real winners of the tournament will be the local youth who receive the scholarships, and for that we say "Thank You Rochester, Thank You PGA!"

TUESDAY

Pro-Am Tournament

On Tuesday, for only the second time in the history of the Senior PGA, a Pro-Am tournament was held. Twenty-eight of the senior golfers paired up with 112 amateurs for a fun-filled, over 5 hour long round of golf on the East Course. The pros played their own ball and the four amateurs in the group used the best drive and then each player played their own ball. The winners of the event, with a 13-under par, were professional John Jacobs and amateurs Scott Seymour, J. Lowell Rolquin, Kevin Carter and Todd Lindenmuth. Local favorite Jeff Sluman played in a group that included his brother Brad Sluman and making it a real family affair, nephew Trevor Sluman served as Brad's caddie. The proceeds from the event went to the PGA Foundation, the part of the PGA of American dedicated to community service.

Hill of Fame Induction

On Wednesday of Championship Week, Jim Awtrey was inducted into Oak Hill's world-renowned Hill of Fame.

Awtrey, who retired in 2006 as Chief Executive Officer of The PGA of America, was honored for his years of service to the PGA. As CEO of the PGA, Awtrey was responsible for the development of many of the PGA's programs and policies which benefit PGA members and also all golfers.

Commenting on Jim Awtrey's induction, Hill of Fame Chairman Bill Reeves said: "Oak Hill played a significant role in one of Jim's greatest accomplishments -- the transformation of the Ryder Cup from an event barely noticed outside of the golf media, to a major international sporting event with a worldwide audience. In honoring Jim, it is our intention not only to recognize Jim's outstanding leadership as CEO of the PGA, but also to remind us of the importance to all golfers of the world's outstanding golf organizations, including The PGA of America."

Speakers at the ceremony

PGA of America President, Brian Whitcomb, Jim Awtrey, Bill Reeves, Hill of Fame Chairman and Jim Condon, President of Oak Hill, and Jim Awtrey's tree on the Hill of Fame included Oak Hill President Jim Condon and PGA of America President Brian Whitcomb. The induction speech by Bill Reeves was followed by gracious acceptance remarks by Jim Awtrey.

Jim Awtrey's tree on the Hill of Fame is a beautiful Bur Oak.

The bronze plaque on the tree notes Jim's years of service to the PGA, and bears the inscription: "He led The PGA of America to its place among the great organizations of the golf world."

2008 PGA First Lady of Golf Award

On Wednesday evening, at the Kilbourn Hall of the Eastman School of Music, Carol Mann was honored with the PGA First Lady of Golf Award. This award, started in 1998 is given annually to a woman who has made significant contributions to the promotion of the game of golf. Previous awardees include Barbara Nicklaus, Judy Rankin, Nancy Lopez and Kathy Whitworth. The evening began with Mary Murphy, host of television's "So You Think You Can Dance" emceeing a program featuring dancers from another television show "Dancing with the Stars". Dancers included winners of that show, Edyta Sliwiska and Alec Mazo. The dancers wowed the audience with their impressive and beautiful dances. Brian Whitcomb, President of the PGA of American, then presented the award to Carol Mann.

Carol Mann, a native of Buffalo, NY, began playing golf at the age of 9. She has won 38 championships on the LPGA tour including the 1965 US Open. She was instrumental in advancing gender equity in promoting the passing of the Title IX Amendment of 1972. She has served as President of the LPGA and was inducted into the LPGA Hall of Fame in 1977 and the World Golf Hall of Fame in 1998. She was elected to PGA membership in 2002. One of the world's most respected golf teachers, hosting golf clinics nationwide, she has also served as a golf analyst on NBC Sports from 1977-1984 and has worked for ABC Sports and ESPN. She devotes much of her time to charitable pursuits and is seen as a true ambassador to the game of golf.

At 6' 3", Carol is a towering example of an amazing professional athlete who continues to promote community service and the game of golf.

Wives' Luncheon at the Inn on Broadway

The spouses of all of the players and PGA officials were invited to a luncheon on Wednesday May 21 at the Inn on Broadway. The luncheon gives the ladies a break from the golf course and an opportunity to see another aspect of Rochester.

The event allowed us to highlight some of the gifted artists in the Rochester area. MacKenzie Childs brought in a trunk show of their very unique pieces. Thanks to Rochester's very own Mann's Jewelers, there were also trunk shows from Italian Jewelry Designer, Roberto Coin and Artist Jay Strongwater, who designs jeweled creations such as frames and many other incredible pieces.

This very well received and successful event was hosted by chairs Kim Glavin and Mary Pluta.

Museum Dedication

Friday afternoon marked the official dedication of the new Oak Hill Museum. "The Traditions of Oak Hill". Jim Ryan, Jr., chairman of the committee to establish the museum, Kodak Chairman and CEO, Antonio Perez, Kodak Vice President Jeff Hayzlett and Jim Condon addressed the Ballroom audience and cut the ribbon to officially open the facility. Kodak has become a valuable partner to Oak Hill to establish the museum.

Kodak restored the 1928 video showing in the trophy room (donated by Mike Murray) so that we could show it to the members.

Likewise, Kodak has donated a sophisticated scanner and printer that allows us to scan photographs, slides and printed material to digital files – and then to print these images for display. The digital picture frames embedded into the museum wall are also Kodak products. These are just a few of the benefits that this partnership has brought to Oak Hill.

Timeline

The Traditions of Oak Hill celebrates the 13 tournaments that have been hosted here as well as the history and traditions of the club since its founding. Oak Hill is the only golf club in the world to have hosted six major tournaments and the Trophy room displays replicas of all six trophies awarded to the winners of these championships... the U.S. Amateur, the U.S. Open, the PGA Championship, the U.S. Senior Open, the Ryder Cup and the Senior PGA Championship. The Time Line Hallway includes various media screens presenting the history of Oak Hill and it many noteworthy events from the founding in 1901 to current time.

Trophies

To the Volunteers and Members of Oak Hill Country Club:

The 2008 Senior PGA Championship is now history with the crowning of Jay Hass as a most deserving and worthy champion. Despite the challenging weather early in the week, the final round on Sunday was as good as it gets. We started with a very notable leader board, built spectator excitement with wonderful golf and concluded with pivotal putting on #18.

The remarks from the players, our spectators, the volunteers, the patrons and the media were very favorable and respectful of a great championship at Oak Hill as we added another jewel to our championship crown. Oak Hill and the Rochester community once again captured the attention of the golf world.

My thanks to Vice Chairs Marty Glavin and Kevin Horey, the entire management team, the over 2000 volunteers and the Oak Hill and PGA staffs. The successes and continuing reputation of Oak Hill is achieved because of their efforts. It can truly be said ..."this is a first class organization worthy of hosting world class events".

We are very proud to be members of Oak Hill Country Club!

Tony Malone, General Chairman

Toast to the Champion

Following the award presentation on the 18th green, Jay Haas was saluted with a toast to the champion in the Clubhouse. Brian Whitcomb, President of the PGA spoke about the amazing week that was. Oak Hill staff, tournament directors and chairs were thanked for their hospitality and efforts, with the longest round of enthusiastic applause going to Jeff Corcoran, Manager of Golf Courses and Grounds, for the phenomenal presentation of the golf course. Jay Haas spoke, thanking Oak Hill, Rochester, long-time friend Craig Harmon and the competitors in the event. Bill Britton, the top club professional was also toasted. He compared his trip to Oak Hill to being a "kid at Disney World... the course, the fans, the warm welcome will never be forgotten". The PGA of America presented Oak Hill with a replica of the Alfred S. Bourne Trophy for the new Traditions of Oak Hill Museum.

"...it doesn't get any better than this!"

Special Thanks to:

1. Tony Malone, Marty Glavin, Kevin Horey and all their committees of volunteers for an exceptionally managed tournament. Their extensive preparations, coupled with the great weather for the last 3 days of the tournament, provided a very enjoyable experience for the gallery and the television audience.
2. Jeff Corcoran and his grounds crew for a beautifully groomed golf course. The East Course was in terrific shape for the tournament and the membership is very appreciative of Jeff's incredible attention to detail. It was not a surprise that Jay Haas also commended Jeff for the superior conditioning of the golf course at both the Winner's reception and to the Media.
3. Jim Awtrey and the PGA of America for providing Oak Hill with the privilege of hosting the 69th Senior PGA championship. In honor of Jim's many contributions to golf, he was inducted into our Hill of Fame during the tournament week.
4. Eric Rule and Craig Harmon and their respective staffs for all their hard work. The membership, our guests and the other tournament patrons enjoyed first class service by the Oak Hill team.
5. Jim Ryan and his committee for all that was done to create the Museum and to assemble our truly unique collection of Major Championship trophies. The Museum further illuminates Oak Hill's tradition of hosting major championships. We hope that the Museum will be indefinitely appreciated by our current and future members.
6. Antonio Perez and his colleagues at Eastman Kodak for their many significant contributions to the Museum.
7. Tournament winner Jay Haas. Jay is a gentleman, a great golfer and true competitor. His eagle 2 on the 17th hole during the 3rd

- round was clearly the shot of the tournament. The eagle propelled Jay to within one shot of the lead as the leaders all bogeyed that same hole. The membership is proud to have Jay Haas as our newest member of the Wall of Champions.
8. Bernhard Langer, who finished in second place, one shot behind Jay Haas. Despite a disappointing front nine score of 41 on Sunday, Bernhard rallied with an even par back nine score of 35. His grinding comeback on Sunday's second nine kept the pressure on Haas right up until Jay's last putt found the bottom of the cup.
9. Jeff Sluman and his valiant attempt to win a major championship in his hometown at his golf course. It was a thrill for the galleries to cheer for Jeff and to see his name appear at the top of the leader board during the 3rd and 4th rounds.
10. Donald Ross. The genius of his golf course design continues to challenge the world's best golfers. Jay's winning score of 7 over par was the highest over par score in the history of the Senior PGA Championship. Sam Snead held the prior record for his 2 over par total at PGA National in 1970.

Thanks to everybody who contributed to another successful Major Championship at Oak Hill.
