Jason Dufner Captures the 95th PGA Championship!

An Unforgettable Week...

The 95th PGA Championship is now in the history books, and we have a terrific Champion in Jason Dufner. We also have a new East Course course record of 63, and a new 72 hole record of 270. With awesome shot making and superb putting, Jason Dufner unquestionably demonstrated that he deserves to have his name on the Wanamaker Trophy.

Except for the rain Thursday afternoon and Friday morning, the weather for Championship week was PERFECT! By any measure, I would consider this year's PGA Championship a great success. Sales for Corporate Hospitality, Tickets, and Merchandise all exceeded our expectations. Over 200,000 spectators passed through our gates – all vying for a spot to watch the best golfers in the world. Over 3,700 volunteers, executed their tasks like a fine Swiss watch. Our Community Relations program had a positive impact to over 100 local charities. Operations, including player housing, the golf shop, traffic flow, scoring, transportation, crowd control, concessions, and many other areas performed well. Our Oak Hill staff proved once again why the Clubhouse ticket is always so desirable – delivering world class service and wonderful food. And... I believe our member-only area was a HUGE HIT, not to mention it served as an attractive backdrop to Golf Channel's broadcast.

The golf course was in incredible condition. Everyone, including the players (and yes – Tiger too), CBS/TNT/ Golf Channel broadcasters, Continued on page 2

A special "Thank You" to all the thousands of volunteers, from all over the world, who helped to make the 2013 PGA Championship such a big success!

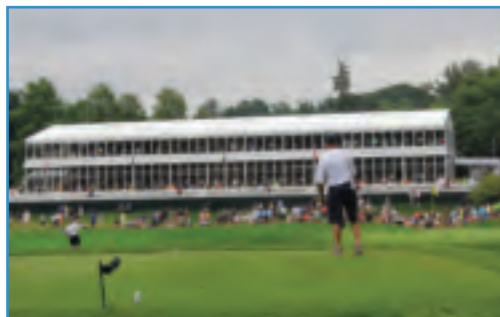

All photos by David King unless otherwise noted.

Continued from the cover the Press, Rules Officials, and PGA of America officers considered our Oak Hill East Course one of the finest golf courses they have ever seen. Congratulations and thank you to Jeff Corcoran and his grounds crew – we are fortunate to have such talent and commitment.

We have a great partnership with the PGA of America and appreciate the relationship we have enjoyed over the years. This year's PGA Championship proved once again this partnership is a WINNER. Since 2011 we have been in the capable hands of Ryan Cannon and his on-site team of John, Rachel, Nate, Erin, Kevin and Donae. Their direction, experience and work ethic lead the way with thoughtful planning and a successful implementation. They have become our friends, and are clearly part of the Oak Hill family.

Finally, I want to thank Kevin Horey, John Post and Ron Pluta as well as the entire 95th PGA Championship Executive Committee, Advisory Group and Board of Governors for their leadership and guidance throughout the planning of this great event. A special thank you also goes out to the over 60 Oak Hill Chairs/Co-Chairs for the flawless execution of their respective committees, and thanks to all the Volunteers who carried out their tasks. And lastly, thanks to all Oak Hill members for your continued support despite the inconvenience and disruption an event of this magnitude can cause. As you reflect on this memorable 95th PGA Championship week you should all feel very good you helped advance the rich and storied tradition of our great Oak Hill Country Club.

PGA Pre Events

PGA Championship Tickets for Charity

A total of 93 youth- and family-focused charities that were shown to provide health, education and wellness services in the region were selected to receive two pairs of tickets to the PGA Championship to use to support their annual fundraising efforts. Charities held raffles, silent auctions, etc. to award these tickets and to benefit from the results. A total of $230,000 was raised for these local charities through this program.

Levy Restaurants Help to Reduce Area Hunger

Levy Restaurants, the leader in sports and entertainment dining concessions, supports its neighbors through causes and organizations dedicated to reducing hunger for children and families. For our tournament, Levy Restaurants made a commitment to support the local community through its Concession for Charity Program. Holy Childhood, Ronald McDonald House, Rochester Rotary, Camp Good Days, and Notre Dame Learning Academy provided approximately 275 volunteers per day to run the concessions. In return, the charity received 10 percent of the gross sales from the five concession stands at the course. The estimated value to benefit these charities was $110,000.

Golf Balls on Parade

A partnership between The Big Parade and the 2013 PGA Championship, resulted in nearly 40 larger-than-life golf balls being designed by local artists, sold to regional companies and individuals, and put on display throughout the region for all to enjoy. This unique community art project added to the excitement of the PGA Championship.

A portion of the sale of each golf ball will be split equally among four charities: Hillside Work Scholarship Connection, Golisano Children's Hospital, Gay Maney REACH for the Green Scholarship, and a charity of each sponsor's choice. It is expected that approximately $65,000 will ultimately be raised by this program.

Media Day

June 3, 2013 started the real excitement of the tournament when defending champion, Rory McIlroy came to town with his father, Gerry McIlroy and long-time caddy JP Fitzgerald. Rory met with the media, played the East Course (finishing at 3 under par) with Craig Harmon, PGA of America President Ted Bishop and CBS Executive Director Rob Correa, visited the Museum and Science Center Exhibit and saw a little bit of the area.

Rochester Museum and Science Center PGA Championship History Exhibit

The Rochester Museum and Science Center held the grand opening of its new PGA Championship History Exhibit, celebrating the Champions of the "Season's Final Major" and honoring a tradition that traces more than 95 years, the PGA Championship during Media Day in June. Collections on display track the PGA Championship from the beginning, with champions like Gene Sarazen, Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and Rochester's very own Walter Hagen...to today's game featuring heroes like Jack Nicklaus, Tiger Woods, Phil Mickelson and Defending PGA Champion Rory McIlroy. The exhibit was open all summer to the delight of golf fans.

Lexmark Tree Planting

The Nature Conservancy teamed up with Lexmark International, Inc. on August 4th to support The PGA of America with a tree-planting event at Rothfuss Park in Penfield. The new trees will offset the impact of printing and paper products needed for the 95th PGA Championship. Oak Hill members and staff dug in to help with this "green" initiative.

Beyond the Green: An Elevating Experience for Executive and Young Professional Women

On Monday, August 5, the PGA of America invited top female executives from Rochester, Syracuse and Buffalo to Beyond the Green: An Elevating Experience for Executive and Young Professional Women. This all day seminar was held in hopes of increasing women's interest in golf – both recreationally and as a prospective industry to work in and with. The women who attended went behind the scenes to view the inner workings of the tournament and participated in networking sessions, golf clinics and panel discussions with other women leaders from various industries. Rochester is only the second city to have a Beyond the Green experience – the first was St. Louis in May of this year at the Senior PGA Championship.

Youth Golf Clinic

On Monday, children from many area charities converged on Genesee Valley Park to learn about the game of golf from local golf pros who donated their time to teach the basics of golf to 250-300 youth. After the clinic the participants were able to attend the PGA Championship. Youth from the organizations selected to participate in the Community Relations Ticket for Charity Program attended the Youth Clinic.

Hill of Fame Ceremony

On Monday, August 5, Tom Watson was honored with a tree on Oak Hill's historic Hill of Fame. This was the 26th tree dedicated on the Hill. The Hill of Fame was founded in 1956 by Dr. John R. Williams to recognize the immortals of golf and distinguished citizens who have enriched the American way of life.

John Feinstein, TV commentator and renowned author, introduced Tom Watson at the Hill of Fame ceremony. Feinstein has authored many books including Caddie for Life, the story of Tom Watson's long-time caddie Bruce Edwards, who died of ALS in 2004. Tom Watson and John Feinstein added their support to the Bruce Edwards Foundation for ALS research, which has raised millions of dollars for charitable causes.

Tom Watson, with 39 PGA Tour victories, including 8 major championships, 14 Champions Tour wins, a winning record in Ryder Cup play and 5 PGA Tour Money titles, is one of the legends of the game.

He captained the successful American Ryder Cup team in 1993 and will serve again as captain in 2014 in Gleneagles, Scotland. Known as a true sportsman and gentleman, Tom Watson is an ideal candidate for the Hill of Fame.

PGA H.O.P.E.

Helping Our Patriots Everywhere (H.O.P.E) was designed to introduce golf to veterans with disabilities in the effort to enhance a veteran's mental, social, physical and emotional well-being. The PGA Foundation, the Western New York Section PGA, and PGA Professionals partnered with the VA Western New York Healthcare System to initiate this program.

A special reception was held at the Oppenheimer chalet on Tuesday, with PGA Representatives, as well as Colonel Gary Yaple from the Veterans Outreach Center and Digby Clements, SVP Oppenheimer funds.

REACH for the Green Scholarships

REACH for the Green is a college scholarship program for Rochester City School District students that is partnered with the PGA and is different in that it endures beyond tournament week to provide annual awards. A total of 9 RCSD students have been awarded scholarships for college. It is a tangible reminder of how our community charities benefit from having the PGA Championship held in Rochester. Contributions to REACH for the Green were provided by The PGA of America, Oak Hill Country Club members, Rochester Business Classic and the 2013 PGA Championship Golf Balls on Parade fundraiser.

In honor of the late Gay Maney and her efforts as Executive Director, the PGA of America Foundation, Oak Hill CC and the Community Foundation agreed to rename the Scholarship, the Gay Maney REACH for the Green scholarship.

Habitat for Humanity

As a way of giving back and leaving a legacy in a community where a major tournament is held, the PGA of America's spouses have partnered with the PGA Tour Wives Association (PTWA) in a philanthropic alliance.

This year, in celebration of the 25th Anniversary of the PTWA, with the PGA tournament here at Oak Hill, the PTWA chose Flower City Habitat for Humanity as the recipient of their generosity. Oak Hill members, wives of players, and PGA members donated hours to building this home. The project, a testimony to a real "blitz build", was completed on Wednesday, with the keys to their new home being presented to the Galleti/Rosario family. The family agreed to provide 450 hours of labor on habitat homes, half on their new house and half on other habitat houses. They also received a 30-year, interest free mortgage on their new home.

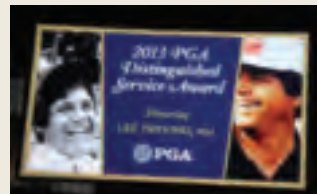

Lee Trevino received the 2013 PGA Distinguished Service Award

PGA Distinguished Service Award

On Wednesday evening, six-time major champion Lee Trevino, arguably golf's most engaging personality as a competitor while quietly conducting a tireless philanthropic life, was awarded the 2013 PGA Distinguished Service Award at a ceremony held at the Riverside Convention Center, featuring music by Michael Bolton. "Lee Trevino is the classic rags to riches story in golf. Throughout his life, Lee has never lost sight of his roots and his humble beginnings," said PGA of America President Ted Bishop. "He was a self-made player who persevered and won championships because he owned his golf swing. He has spent countless hours during his life helping others. In the history of The PGA of America, no one has appreciated or valued membership in our Association more than Lee. He is the quintessential PGA Professional - player, teacher, and humanitarian".

The PGA Distinguished Service Award, inaugurated in 1988, honors outstanding individuals who display leadership and humanitarian qualities, including integrity, sportsmanship and enthusiasm for the game of golf.
